Legislature Handed 2 Bills To Replace Community Proposal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Expanded state-supported facilities for college education apparently will be in branches of present state universities or in locally backed technical institutes.

This became apparent Monday with introduction in the State Senate of two bills designed to replace a measure proposing community colleges. That measure was killed last week by the Senate Education and Health Committee.

The chief sponsor of the twin bills was Sen. Ross Peppie, R-Alen, chairman of the Senate committee.

Peppie, since he won an Ohio State University branch for his home city of Lima, has been wedded to the principle of branch colleges.

His two bills, which he announced last week at the burial ceremony for the community college bill, highlighted the opening of the 14th work week for Ohio's lawmakers.

Because of the press of thousands of would-be Ohio college students against the gates of existing institutions, the apparent cast of the die in favor of branch colleges and technical institutes has particular meaning.

"I haven't talked with the leadership yet," Peppie conceded, "but I hope to persuade the leadership to make these bills policy so they may be acted upon quickly."

While the controversy over higher education mounted, there were these other legislative developments:

The Senate passed and sent to the House a bill to stiffen penalties for second offenders who break into autos to steal tires or parts or who take a joyride in an auto without the owner's consent.

The state has run out of poor relief matching money, leaders were told, and will not be able to meet its 50-50 matching obligation with local relief districts unless the legislature acts in a week.

A letter from Finance Director James H. Maloon to House Finance Committee Chairman Ralph Fisher, R-Wayne, pointed out that a supplemental appropriations bill offered more than three weeks ago, still has not been submitted to the House. It would provide relief money for the rest of the fiscal year, which ends June 30.

Goldwater To Back Aid For Parochial Schools

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., says he will offer an amendment to President Kennedy's school aid bill making church and private schools eligible for federal loans. Administration forces have felt that such an amendment would stir up a religious controversy and wreck the chances of the $2.3 billion measure.

British-U.S. Laos Crisis Talks Open

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Top British and American leaders opened talks in Washington today on the crisis in Laos and today to frame an answer to the Russian reply to a Western call for a truce.

In London, the Foreign Office acknowledged today further meetings will be needed in Moscow before an East-West plan is worked out for a cease-fire in Laos.

A spokesman said nevertheless the British official view still is "encouraging."

Sir Frank Roberts, British ambassador to Moscow conferred Monday with Deputy Foreign Minister Vasili Kuznetsov on the three-point British plan—a cease-fire, inspection by the Indian-Polish-Canadian commission, and then a 14-nation conference to establish Laos as a neutral state.

British Prime Minister Macmillan is to arrive in Washington this evening for conferences with President Kennedy.

Kennedy, ending his Easter vacation in Florida, will fly to Washington late in the afternoon. Macmillan is scheduled to arrive from the West Indies at 6 p. m. EST.

To save the prime minister from bucking the capital's rush hour traffic, a helicopter will take him to the Naval Observatory grounds next door to the British Embassy. He will stay at the embassy during his five-day visit.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk will extend an official welcome to Macmillan at the observatory. Rusk meets earlier with Lord Home, the British foreign minister, who arrived Monday night to start preliminary work with Rusk on a Western reply to Russia's note on Laos.

Macmillan and Kennedy will meet Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday for broad foreign policy talks. Preliminary joint reviews have been under way at lower levels for weeks.

The President and the prime minister met briefly at Key West, Fla., March 26 to discuss the Laotian situation.

Britain's ambassador in Moscow, Sir Frank Roberts, is pressing the Kremlin for clarification on Soviet intentions for a cease-fire in Laos. The United States wants the shooting stopped before it goes to any international conference.

'Something' Tells Boy To Kill Mother

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—Something kept telling him to do it, 13-year-old Gary Geiger told authorities. So he got a shotgun, sneaked up behind his mother while she was playing the organ and fatally blasted her in the back, the sheriff reported.

At first, Sheriff Harley Wornstaff said, Gary told of a man breaking into the house and killing his mother, Mrs. Lucille Geiger, in her late 30s.

But the boy broke down under questioning, the sheriff said, and admitted slaying her himself Monday night.

Wornstaff said that because of the boy's age, it will be up to the prosecutor and the courts to determine what charges will be filed against him.

The shooting occurred while the mother and son were alone in the house, about four miles southwest of here. The father, Lloyd, and an older son were away, Wornstaff said.

Other than his explanation that "something kept telling me to do it," Gary offered no reason for firing the 12-gauge shotgun once into his mother's back while she sat playing the electric organ in the living room.

The boy told the sheriff there was no trouble between him and his mother. He had no previous record with the sheriff's department.

Gary at first told deputies that a man broke into the house—there was a broken window to support that story—forced him to hand over the shotgun, killed Mrs. Geiger and fled.

Rayburn, speaking Monday in McKinney, Tex., said "They're spreading this idea that a government can get by without levying taxes. That is no way to stay secure from those who would destroy us."

"The men who spread these strange nostrums would destroy our freedom. They go the length and breadth of our land claiming that we, in America, do not have freedom."

Young said Congress is "too busy" to take up the time for such an investigation. And he said he concedes that "any mercenary demagogue has the right to express opinions, though discredited, unfounded and false."

Demands for such inquiries have been voiced at the capitol in connection with charges by Welch that such people as former President Eisenhower and Chief Justice Earl Warren are Communists.

Young said Welch, a retired Belmont, Mass., candy manufacturer "is succeeding handsomely in selling life memberships in his society for a thousand dollars each and raking in thousands of dollars every month in members' dues."

He described the society's leadership as "right-wing crackpots" who "would undermine the very foundations of American democracy."

Young said of the society's leaders that "these radicals of the right have been practicing character assassination without regard for the truth."

Young, who assailed the organization Monday as fascist and comprised of fake patriots, quoted one letter on the senate floor as follows:

"You will never get another vote of mine or anyone I know if you approve of Earl Warren's record."

To this, Young added: "Frankly, I would never want that crackpot's vote."

Young said he has, however, been answering these letters.

One letter by Young began: "Some crackpot has given you false information." It ended: "It is unfortunate you read such trash regarding an outstanding Ameri-

U.S. Urges Castro To Cut Red Ties

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has urged Fidel Castro's Cuban regime "to sever its links with the international Communist movement."

The statement, issued Monday, accused Castro of betraying the Cuban revolution and leading the Caribbean island into Communist bondage.

It was the Kennedy administration's toughest indictment of Castro so far.

The U.S. statement said it is the government's belief that "the Castro regime in Cuba offers a clear and present danger to the authentic and autonomous revolution of the Americas."

"What began as a movement to enlarge Cuban democracy and freedom has been perverted, in short, into a mechanism for the destruction of free institutions in Cuba, for the seizure by international communism of a base and bridgehead in the Americas, and for the disruption of the inter-American system."

The U.S. position—following in essence the lines drawn in the Eisenhower administration—was set forth in a 36-page pamphlet issued by the State Department.

Press officer Lincoln White said "because of the tremendous public interest of the United States in Cuba, this pamphlet for public consumption is a straight-forward presentation of the situation in Cuba."

The pamphlet is a summation of U.S. government allegations and reports presented as U.S.-Havana relations worsened.

Copies and Spanish-language texts were prepared for distribution throughout Latin America, to the Organization of American States, the International Organization of the 21 American republics, and for the United Nations.

Prime Minister Castro is expected to make a wrathful reply. But the only comment to date came from the government-controlled radio which said the U.S.

Ohio Adventurer Nabbed in Florida

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Floyd L. Hurst, 21, of Dayton, Ohio, was one of six young adventurers seized by the border patrol as they tried to leave for Cuba Sunday in a stolen 42-foot boat. The steel-hull gunboat was originally brought to Florida by escaping anti-Castro Cubans.

Edward P. Ahrens, chief of the Immigration Service office at Miami, said he understood the five Americans and a Canadian ran the boat aground at Key West. A border patrolman and another federal officer went out in a small boat and apprehended four of them. Two who had already left the boat were arrested as they fled up the Florida Keys in a car.

Sad Journey Mystifies Child

Ohio Tot's Mother Nearby in Casket

BUTLER, Ga. (AP) — Lynn Marie Tupin, a 6-year-old Ohio girl, was en route home today on a train which carries her mother in a casket.

"Where's Mommy?" she had kept asking. But her father, 32-year-old Lynn Tupin of Columbia Station in Lorain County, Ohio, was too choked with grief to tell her.

Last Friday, Tupin was driving to Bradenton, Fla., with his wife and two of their four children. The family moved recently from Florida to Ohio, and the trip was made to pick up some belongings for their new home.

Five miles south of here the Tupin station wagon collided with a tractor. Mrs. Tupin, 32, was killed. Tupin and his 4-year-old son were hospitalized, the father with a gashed forehead and injured foot, the boy with a broken collar bone, contusions and abrasions.

Lynn Marie was unhurt except for some scratches. She was alone in this middle Georgia community with no one but strangers to comfort her.

Ward Edwards, son of a local undertaker, and his wife took the girl into their home and cared for her until her father could get back on his feet.

People in this small town, struck with compassion, organized shifts to sit up with Lynn's brother, Carter, who needed attention regularly.

Two residents took up a collection when they learned the Tupin family's finances were modest and that their car was uninsured. Some $200 was collected, nearly the amount of the hospital bill.

Through it all Lynn Marie kept asking for her mother. Tupin, unable to break the news, asked Mr. and Mrs. Edwards to do it. They told the girl her mother had gone to heaven.

Monday Tupin and his children boarded a train for Ohio. Also aboard was the body of Mrs. Tupin.

Job Improvement Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some springtime improvement is expected to show up today in a new government report on the nation's job situation.

Supt. Paul J. Upp said that Robert Lammers is chairman of a committee handling the project under the board of education's supervision. It will not be a remedial type of program but will be aimed at junior and seniors in high school and for students a ready enrolled in college.

It is designed to "bridge the gap" between high school and college and make the transition easier and quicker. Approximately 30 students have indicated interest to date.

A tentative schedule for the six-week course, which will include half-day sessions three times a week under present plans, calls for English instruction at a college freshman level for an hour; and then ending with mathematics aimed at a college level.

Another Ohioan, Rep. Gordon H. Scherer, a Cincinnati republican, has called the John Birch Society a basically pro-American organization.

At the office of Rep. Samuel L. Devine, a Columbus, Ohio, Republican, an aide said Devine disagrees with the impeach-Warren proposal but that he does not consider the majority of John Birch members as crackpots.

An aide to Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, reported receiving scarcely any mail that could have been sent by John Birch members.

"I said he has never heard Lausche express an opinion about the organization."

Tshombe Files Demand For Full Control of Elisabethville Airport

ELISABETHVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Katanga President Moïse Tshombe, thwarted in a move to seize the Elisabethville airport from U.N. forces, angrily called on his supporters today to get ready to fight the United Nations.

Two hours later he ordered them off, but knife-wielding Africans already were running amok on roads leading to the airport.

At midafternoon the strong man leader of secessionist Katanga Province ordered full mobilization and turned this capital city into an armed camp. He handed the U.N. forces an ultimatum to surrender the airport within two hours.

Then, as tension mounted, Tshombe announced he and U.N. officials had reached an agreement to avert an explosion.

Even as this was announced, frenzied Africans were milling about uniformed Swedish U.N. soldiers, attacking them with stones and smashing their cars.

Two Swedish drivers were rescued by white members of the Katanga army.

That army, the most disciplined in the Congo, is commanded by Tshombe but many of its officers are Belgians retained by Tshombe. Belgium formerly ruled this country.

These were the events leading up to the Katanga crisis: A platoon of 24 Katanga soldiers, led by a Belgian officer, tried to seize the airport before dawn. A dozen Swedish soldiers at the airport thwarted the attempt.

In a rage, Tshombe delivered his ultimatum and went direct to the capital's people. He told a screaming crowd of 10,000 that the Swedes must quiet the airport within two hours or face attack by the capital's entire population.

"The Swedes may not leave the airport in two hours," he shouted. "If not, I will ask all of you, together with the police and Katanga army, to march on the airport. You will fight, you will shoot, you will recapture the airport."

Gap-Bridger Planned for High Schoolers

HILLSBORO, Ohio (AP) — If present plans materialize, Hillsboro will be the center for an unusual summer school program this year.

They were convicted last week of murdering Finch's socialite wife, Barbara Jean, 36.

The same jury sets their penalty. Its only choices are death in the gas chamber or life imprisonment. The defendants are treated separately.

Both were convicted of conspiracy to murder, a capital offense. Finch was convicted of first-degree murder, Miss Tregoff of second-degree murder.

The doctor could get death or life imprisonment on either the conspiracy or first-degree counts; his sweetheart on the conspiracy count. Her second-degree conviction carried an automatic sentence of five years to life.

Superior Court Judge David Coleman ordered the jurors locked up overnight after they debated one hour and 58 minutes Monday.

The Los Angeles Examiner reported that, moments after the jury retired, a lip reader among spectators reported Carole said inaudibly to Finch: "No matter what happens, I love you."

The lip reader, unidentified, said Finch's reply was not caught.

In a sweltering courtroom, the state demanded death for both in payment for the fatal shooting on July 18, 1959, of Finch's beautiful estranged wife.

to take effect, Tshombe announced he had reached an agreement on control of the airport. He rescinded the ultimatum. U.N. officials said Tshombe had agreed that the airport should return to the joint control of Katanga authorities and the United Nations.

Mobs already were on the road to the airport.

Hemmed in by almost crazed Africans, who several times threatened with their knives, this correspondent watched attacks on two U.N. cars.

The crowd halted the cars and threatened the Swedes with their knives. Others scampers to the roadside to gather stones. They began to stone the Swedes in their cars and within minutes the windows were smashed on the two white vehicles. The occupants were bleeding.

Some whites with the Katanga army forced their way through the mob to rescue the two Swedes. They forced the bleeding men to sit up and drive through the crowd, while Katanga troops clambered on the hoods.

"Now we have made the U.N. prisoners," a soldier screamed to the mob.

A short way down the road a group of angry Africans attacked a white woman. Police went to her rescue, but not before she was hacked several times across the body.

Several thousand other Africans gathered around the deserted U.N. headquarters building in Elisabethville, chanting and screaming, while leaders exhorted them to tear the building down. Tshombe's forces earlier had cut off power and water to the building.

Through the afternoon much of the population of Elisabethville seemed to be in an ugly mood and ready to support Tshombe. They waved knives, clubs, iron staffs and rifles as they roared approval of Tshombe's anti-U.N. exhortations.

Tshombe, who had to force his way through a dense mass to reach his speaking platform, declared that from now on the people were to engage in "general sabotage" against all U.N. soldiers—"and I don't care how you do it."

He threatened severe sanctions against anyone black or white, who cooperated with United Nations. These sanctions included up to five years imprisonment.

Before Tshombe spoke, a part of the vast crowd attempted to storm the U. N. headquarters and the nearby U.N. hospital.

Katanga police managed to hold them back and it was only the arrival of Tshombe that prevented them from attacking the U.N. buildings.

Tshombe had declared previously that the reinforcements of the U.N. forces in Katanga could mean grave trouble, and the airport incident only heightened his anger.

This Time, Groom Is Wed in White

FOSTORIA, Ohio (AP)—At most weddings it usually the bride who is dressed in white. At a ceremony here Sunday, it was the groom.

Airman Howard E. Laney Jr., 20, of Fostoria and Jeanette S. Myer, 20, of Findlay, were married in Fostoria City Hospital.

Laney, home on emergency leave from California to attend his grandfather's funeral, had decided to get married Saturday. But a car wreck last week put him in the hospital. He got married anyway—a day later than he had planned.

Hospital authorities said they are examining Laney for possible internal injuries and probably would release him sometime this week.

Bowling Green Collegians Plead Case to Legislators

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Bowling Green State University students, including one who was expelled as a result of last week's three-day campus demonstration, took their grievances to the legislature Monday.

A half-dozen of them, including Susan Erickson, 20, of Dayton, the expelled student, explained their gripes to Sens. Lowell Fess, R-Greene, and Ross Pepple, R-Alen. The senators said they had no plans of action other than listening to the complaints.

Miss Erickson was the only one who gave her name to newsmen.

Accompanying the students was Glen Schmidt of St. Marys, a January graduate of Bowling Green. He said a Student Council meeting April 13 would have "a great effect on what is going to happen." He did not elaborate.

Last week's demonstrations, on the campus and in the city of Bowling Green, were prompted, student said, by what they called stiff university regulations.

Among rules they didn't like were those which they said banned kissing girls goodnight in front of their dormitories, a ban on couples holding hands on campus, and a ban on drinking—including beer—on or off campus.

Students also claimed they lacked freedom of assembly on campus, that alleged censorship of the student newspaper left them with no effective voice, and that penalties for cutting classes were excessive.

On the third day of demonstrations, last Tuesday, students boycotted classes. Then they left on Easter vacation and are due back on campus Wednesday.

University President Ralph W. McDonald attempted to answer some of the students' criticism of university policy.

In letters sent Monday to the parents of each of Bowling Green's 6,000 on-campus students, McDonald said:

"Both the applicant (to the university) and his parents are urged to make a free, honest and mature judgement in advance as to whether the student believes in the university's policies and regulations and wishes to secure his education in a university governed by this code. . . .

"All students who are enrolled in the university this year received full information as to Bowling Green's policies and regulations in advance of their admission, and these matters were fully explained again during the orientation of new freshmen."

The prexy added that not more than 200 students were active in the university this year received full information as to Bowling Green's policies and regulations in advance of their admission, and these matters were fully explained again during the orientation of new freshmen."

Eight of the students involved have been expelled. About 30 others will be interviewed by university officials after they return to campus this week.

Pennsylvania Boy Conquers South — on TV, That Is

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Nick Adams, son of a Pennsylvania coal miner, has conquered the South—and vice versa.

Nick has had one of Hollywood's most meteoric rises to fame and fortune since he joined a few years ago with the cause of the Confederacy. He's the star, and creator of TV's "The Rebel."

A few years ago Nick owned one suit. Now he's a Hollywood tycoon with his own television company and own movie production company.

"I owe it all to the South," he enthuses. "As far as I'm concerned, they should have won the war between the states. I'm a rebel by adoption."

"My family were all immigrants to this country so I had no family ties to the Civil War. I chose the South."

And the South apparently has chosen him.

Novelist Maggie Davis of Atlanta is currently writing a novel with Nick in mind, much like the late Margaret Mitchell wrote "Gone With the Wind" with Clark Gable the model for Rhett Butler.

"I took an option on the novel after only reading two chapters," says Nick. "The story department at Paramount thinks it's another 'Gone With the Wind.'"

The novel has an arresting title—"The Naked Lovers" but Nick thinks that will have to be changed for the movies.

"It's a good title for the book," says Nick, "because it's the story of a boy, 22, who is a private in the Confederate Army of Tennessee. Two of the bloodiest battles of the war were fought by the Army of Tennessee — at Chickamauga and Franklin, Tenn."

"The boy comes home on leave and marries his lovely sweetheart of 17 but Sherman's march to Atlanta turns the honeymoon into a disaster. The young couple are stripped of everything in their search for immediate love; hence the title."

If the novel becomes a best seller like "Gone With the Wind," the title will stand, says Nick.

"If not," he adds "we'll have to change it. It sounds too much like the title for a Brigitte Bardot movie."

Entry at Tavern Is Investigated

Patrolmen William Goff and William Brungs investigated.

Police Hold Bicycle

Leeches Look for 'Suckers'

Some day the American public will go on the warpath as a result of being regarded as an "easy mark". When that time comes there will be a stampede of leeches for the border because it will be too hot in the United States for them. But right now they are enjoying a harvest.

The stage is set for their get-the-money gouges. They organize a do-good movement, perhaps to provide drinking fountains for giraffes in parched Africa or a clinic for the relief of stubbed toes in a high - rocky country. All they need as equipment is a letterhead containing an imposing list of names and the union label.

Their appeals to jar money out of Americans are founded upon sentiment and a challenge to the proverbial charitable inclination. But soon somebody will rediscover that charity begins at home and it will so amaze him that he will begin to practice it and preach it. In time he will make converts, perhaps.

But before he does these United States will be gypped out of some tremendous sums and in many instances the beneficiaries will smirk when they get the money and murmur, "suckers". Unfortunately, some worthy causes will suffer because of the army of leeches growing fat sucking blood money from a gullible America.

Remarks To Irk Movie Ushers

NEW YORK (AP)—Remarks a movie usher gets tired of hearing: "The pictures they show here are pretty lousy, but they have the best popcorn in town."

"So why should I stand in line when I bought my ticket already?"

"Why can't I take my dog in with me? He doesn't chew gum or talk out loud, and he's smarter than most of the people in this audience."

"What time does the feature begin?"

"I stayed and seen this pitcher through twice, and I still don't understand what it's all about. Is it up for an Academy Award or something?"

"His uniform fits him like a glove—a baseball glove."

"If he was in the Navy and had all that gold braid, he'd be commanding at least three battleships and a carrier."

"Hey, General Custer, which way to the lounge?"

"There's two-bits in it for you, bud, if you slip my wife and me in at the head of the line."

"Gee, Melvin, I know you only took this job temporarily until Marlon Brando retires. But when do you think that will be?"

"Hi, Melvin. Joe and our two gal friends are waiting at the side exit. How about slipping 'em in for free?"

"This is the third time this month you have failed to pass inspection, Melvin. Unless you get that button sewed back on before the next performance, I'll have to ask you to turn in your uniform."

"Where's the manager? I put a dime in the candy machine for a chocolate bar—and what did I get back? Licorice!"

"So you call that a mystery picture, do you? The mystery to me is why they ever made it."

"The next time the U. S. Cavalry chases the Indians away, would you mind going down to my son—he's the little boy in the front row—and tell him that you're a policeman and if he doesn't go home now you'll have to put him in jail? I'll be waiting in the lounge."

"Now that we've seen the double feature, Essie, let's go to the lounge, get a cup of free coffee—and see if there's anything interesting on the TV set there. While we're here we might as well get our money's worth."

"Yes, Melvin does look nice in his uniform. But he'd look even better if he was on horseback."

"These are nice seats. Thanks, sonny, and here's a dime for yourself. Remember, don't spend it all on one girl."

Television Put to New Use

David Sarnoff, chairman of R. C. A., is gifted with imagination and prescience. He has now come up with a very useful idea. Let me quote him:

"Through a blend of electronic computation and communication techniques, it would be possible to establish a National Medical Clearing House which could serve as a central repository for all the latest medical information. By a combination of communications circuits, every major hospital and medical school in the country could be tied into this Clearing House."

"If a doctor in a San Francisco hospital sought the source of information on a particular subject, he would simply dial a number. Instantly, a relevant bibliography would flash on a television - like screen before him. Then, when he made his choice of a particular article, he could dial again and get a microfilm version of the article on his screen."

The real point of all this is that knowledge is being accumulated too rapidly even for the specialists to know a subject in its entirety. Research is done in a thousand places and one place has just reached the moment when something is found that can save a life. But that something has not yet worked its way into medical literature. Yet this one little fact might give a sick person a few more years of life.

The top doctors like the top men in any profession are very busy and hard to get to. Hospitals do not readily interchange staffs. Nevertheless there is always one man, brilliant, imaginative, projecting his ideas far beyond the moment, who can save a life even by a suggestion. In the critical moments between life and death, the miraculous does occur, and the miraculous is often a great mind that hits the spot.

This is particularly true in the treatment of cancers about which so much is now known and so many lives are being saved. It takes great resources and superhuman courage to save a life. Sarnoff's proposal will be established because it is logical.

The day may come when an excellent doctor worried about a detail will be able to call a central clearing house to ask who knows about this.

These days, when it is possible to take a plane and be somewhere in a few hours, there is no reason why a life should be endangered or lost because the man who knows is too far away. Nobody is any longer too far away.

General Sarnoff's proposal that more color television be used to project knowledge is very valuable. He said:

"World-wide television will permit thousands of physicians to sit in on diagnosis and consultation sessions among specialists of many nationalities. Heart specialists in London will be able to examine a patient, display on the television screen his X-rays and cardiograms, and discuss a diagnosis with specialists in New York, Berlin, Paris, Rome, Tokyo, or other parts of the world. And through instantaneous electronic translation techniques, which are now in development, the barrier of language difference—as real to the doctor as to the statesman—will be finally surmounted."

What General Sarnoff is really calling our attention to is the need for total utilization of all the developments in science which are now at our disposal. He recognized that such a device as color television may be used for much more than exhibiting the art of Bob Hope or Red Skelton to say nothing of Zsa Zsa Gabor. Already television is being used to teach many subjects. The time will come when public demand will require the television companies and the so-called sponsors to use this device for something more than theater, although theater has its place. But does it always have to be manner?

I sometimes wonder if General Sarnoff ever watches television to see the hours frittered away in miserable trivialities surely unfit for his grandchildren. It must be worrisome to think of what can be done with this medium that is not being done and the responsibility for telling the public of its possibilities is up to the television industry. The day may come when this device too will be used to save lives.

Imagine sitting in New York, stating a problem to an expert in London, Bonn or Tokyo and he replies by showing how he handled a similar case—showing it on the television screen. That day will come too.

BENCHED—Diane Pesetski takes it in good stride, that run-in she had with a picnic bench in her back yard in West Chicago, Ill.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

AN INSURANCE SALESMAN made the mistake of asking a prospect in the dress business how things were going with him. "I'll show you," moaned the dress man. He threw open a door to the stock room and pointed dramatically to rows and rows of dresses neatly arranged.

"Tens of thousands of dresses I got hanging on these racks," he exclaimed, "and you ask me how things are going. They ain't!"

"But what a fine inventory," soothed the insurance man. "Dresses hanging in the loft you've got, but clever partners you've got, too. What about them?"

"My partners?" sneered the dress man. "They're hanging in the closets."

"Well, that's life," sighed the egg on the monastery breakfast table. "Out of the frying pan, into the friar!"

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—Annual reports now crowd the mailboxes of perhaps 15 million Americans who own shares in our industry. Often the booklets glow with promises of what the consumer and his government may expect from busy research departments.

Those are just peepholes in the fence of corporate statistics. But the stockholders can glimpse how management is building for the future.

The research pointed out in the annual report may be in a consumer product of everyday usage, like Pepsi-Cola's projected eight bottle carton carrier. Or it may be in outer space like Lockheed's work on a design for solid fuel boosters for vehicles weighing a million pounds.

Here is a handful of other examples, both in the immediate, every day field and in the distant, esoteric one.

American Can's annual report finds space among the figures on its present fiscal condition to report on the outlook for lighter metal containers from low-cost tinplate, as well as lighter and stronger glass containers.

Endicott Johnson talks of making shoes from a new leather supposed to have as much as 500 per cent more durability.

Among work in progress at American Cyanamid is something that may lead to a smog control device for cars. Allied Chemical is working on nylon tire yarns of increased strength. Du Pont's report discusses possible new forms of printing with characteristics of both offset and letterpress, as well as research into "the chemistry of biological nitrogen fixation and synthesis of a new class of organic solids which conduct electricity." Sun Chemical is studying new fields for its magnetic printing ink now used on bank checks.

Corning Glass Works talks of a new glass that will permit selective passage of certain gases and of other glass that can be used at temperatures far higher than any now thought possible.

The challenge of the fuel cell, in which chemical energy is converted directly to electric power is occupying scientists of a number of firms, including Indiana Standard Oil, McGraw - Edison, and Chrysler. Carrier is studying thermoelectric power generation to convert heat directly into electricity. Foster Wheeler's studies include heat transfer and corrosion and deposit investigations.

Aluminum Ltd., is working on a basically new process to make substantial savings in capital and cost of producing aluminum. North American Coal Corp. tells of research into output of high purity alumina from low grade domestic ores.

Lear, Inc., says its scientists are working hard on the orbiting and landing problems of space-men.

On this earth Pullman, Inc., is fretting over some of transportation's knotty problems. It assures its stockholders they may see containerization become "as revolutionary for the transportation industry as packaging has been to the food industry."

Signs Appear For Upswing In Steel

CLEVELAND (AP) — Market analysts are convinced that favorable signs of an upswing in steel demand are not of the will-o'-the-wisp variety, Steel Magazine said today.

Orders should climb steadily during the second quarter as construction increases and manufacturers step up their output of durable goods, the metalworking weekly said.

Steel said March output was about 7 million tons—up 12 per cent from February's 6.2 million and the largest of any month since last June.

This week's production will be about the same as last week's 1,620,000 ingot tons, Steel said.

Heavy products have shown a gain. Steel said eastern mills report the number of orders placed has been increasing more rapidly than aggregate tonnage. This indicates many users have depleted their inventories, the magazine added.

Steel said mills making galvanized sheets are benefiting from upturn in building activity. Although some mills can still ship from stock, the magazine said, many are quoting three to four weeks' delivery, and some have nothing to offer under six weeks.

If the recent uptrend in auto sales and production continues, Steel said, it may trigger the release of more steel orders in May than the mills have been expecting.

Steel said a recent survey it conducted shows the latest postwar business recession has run its course. It predicted a slow rise in the general economy, leading to a genuine recovery during the last half of the year.

Exports of U.S. scrap are providing support for the scrap market. Steel's price composite on prime grade of steelmaking scrap held at $38.67 a gross ton last week after rising for six straight weeks.

Assembly Gets Bills To Help State Colleges

The House passed and sent to the Senate measures which would:

Prevent an individual, who leaves a civilian job for military service and serves for a full career of perhaps 20 years, to then claim the right of reemployment. The amendment would limit to four years the length of service after which reemployment rights can be claimed, plus any additional service imposed without the individuals volunteering.

Allow loans to a developer by building and loan associations of up to two-thirds of the appraised value of undeveloped land and two-thirds of the cost for the contemplated residential development. Backers said the loans — which have a five-year limit—would help developers who do not build on a large scale.

Representatives prepared to vote today on a bill providing that, when a conservancy district is dissolved, funds are repaid to the counties according to the ratio in which they originally were contributed.

The Senate plans to act on a bill giving municipal and county courts exclusive jurisdiction in civil cases involving not more than $1,000.

A subcommittee of the House literally is trying to map out a means of providing the state with a 24th congressional district.

It would be the area represented by the new congressman that Ohio gets as the result of population gains revealed in the 1960 census. If legislators cannot agree on a way to create the new district, the 24th congressman would be elected at large. That is, all Ohio voters would be allowed to cast ballots, just as they do for the state's two U. S. senators.

Surrounded by enough maps to make it look like a navigators' convention, the subcommittee worked on the problem Monday night and plans to tackle it again today.

Any arrangement presumably has to be one with which Democrats will go along, because Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, a democrat, doubtless would veto a proposal that gave any serious boost to Republican strength.

In other committee action Monday night, a House-approved bill plugging some gaps in the school bus inspection law had its first hearing in the Senate Judiciary Committee.

The law presently requires inspection by the Ohio Highway Patrol of all school buses except those which operate without contract to public schools (an operator might make arrangements with parents, for example, or those carrying youngsters to and from private or parochial schools.)

The bill would require patrol inspection of all school buses carrying 10 or more persons, would require the buses to be painted the same shade of yellow for easy identification on the highway, and provides penalties for failure to comply.

Public transit company buses, sometimes used to carry students, are exempted because they come under Utilities Commission regulation.

Capt. M. A. Moch of the Highway Patrol said no additional men would be needed to handle the extra inspections. He said 8,884 buses were inspected last year, including many serving parochial schools which volunteered to be inspected. But there were 2,382 buses which the patrol had no authority to check, he added.

The House Industry and Labor Committee heard those favoring a bill to prohibit discrimination in public accommodations such as restaurants. Opponents will be heard tonight.

Richard E. Guggenheim, chairman of the Ohio Civil Rights Commission, said although the commission is four to five months behind because of volume of complaints, passage of the bill would not seriously add to its workload.

Alleged public accommodation violation cases, he said, "are relatively clearcut" and easier to

Godfrey Tells of Discovery Of Cancer in His Lung

EDITOR'S NOTE — Two years ago TV star Arthur Godfrey underwent surgery for lung cancer. Now honorary education chairman of the American Cancer Society's current crusade, Godfrey tells about his own bout with the disease in this first of three articles.

I was in Hawaii doing a telecast when I first noticed the pain. It wasn't severe or steady;

Common Pleas Court Makes 22 Dispositions

Pickaway County Common Pleas Court disposed of 22 cases during March, according to a report from the Clerk of Courts office.

Twenty-six new cases were filed last month, which included 11 divorce actions, nine civil suits and six criminal cases.

A breakdown of the case load disposed of during the month shows five domestic relations, eight other civil suits and nine criminal cases. There were 176 cases pending in the court March 1. With the disposition of 22 cases and 26 new cases being filed, 180 cases remain pending as of April 1.

TWELVE of the cases disposed of were tried to court, one tried to jury, one was a cognovit or default judgment and eight were settled or dismissed.

Two cases were pending March 1 in the District Court of Appeals. No cases were filed or disposed of there in March.

Dave Beck Gains High Court Appeal

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today agreed to hear an appeal by Dave Beck, former Teamsters Union president, from his conviction in a Washington State court on a charge of grand larceny.

Beck, 66, was convicted in King County Superior Court in December 1957 on a charge of embezzling $1,900 received from the sale of a Cadillac owned by the union. He was sentenced to 15 years in the state penitentiary, but has been free on bail pending outcome of appeals.

Fuel Oil, Pigs Reported Taken

Thomas Riffle, Route 2, Ashville, reported the theft of two pigs 8-weeks-old to the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

Riffle told Deputy Dixie Waters a quantity of fuel oil also was taken at the Route 23 property. He said a lock was broken on a tank.

investigate.

Also scheduled for another hearing today is a House bill which would remove newspapers, magazines and other publications entered as second class matter at the post office from exemption from some laws dealing with obscenity.

Backers claim some questionable publications presently are exempted because they are entered at the post office as second class matter, but that they actually are not distributed by mail. If they were, backers say, it would give postal authorities opportunity to check and perhaps remove second-class privileges.

Motion pictures at present are exempted if they are approved by a division of censorship. But, since Ohio has no such division, the bill would remove this terminology.

This would leave the movies subject to the "nuisance" law, from which newspapers and other publications which qualify for second-class privileges are exempted. Theaters might be shut down if authorities made an obscene or lewd film charge stick.

but it made me uneasy. I decided it was my heart. So when ever it got out of hand, I'd dive into the Waikiki surf, swim out, and tell myself: "If it's a coronary, okay, let it come now."

Since it didn't, I changed my diagnosis to gas pressure.

Back home, the doctor did not agree. His diagnosis was based on X-rays. After he examined them and me, he gave me the verdict.

It was the kind of verdict nobody wants.

As the doctor spoke, the lights went out in Godfrey's great big beautiful world.

It would have been easier if I'd known more about cancer—if I'd known then what I know today—that there are now, here in the United States, well over a million people who also once heard the diagnosis, cancer, and, after treatment, lived on to hear the doctor say: "Well, you've passed the five-year checkup. Guess we can both relax."

I hope to hear those words too—three years from now. Because it's just two years ago that I underwent surgery for a cancer in the left lung. The doctor says I'm in fine shape. There's no trace of cancer in me. But a patient is considered cured only when there has been no recurrence of the disease for five years after treatment.

But I acquired an education in the days and months after surgery: involuntary at first, it became an education I consciously pursued when I recovered. For years I'd been active in the fight against cancer. But now I wanted to know fundamental facts.

What I found out is hopeful in the extreme. I want to share this knowledge with the public, because it may help other people face the ordeal of cancer if they must—and escape it, if they can. Many thousands of lives could be saved if more people knew the facts about cancer cure and prevention. To help spread these facts is the purpose of these articles.

My advice? Get a checkup—get one every year even if you have nothing wrong, and if you suspect cancer—if you have one of its seven warning signals for more than two weeks—see your doctor without delay. It may not be cancer at all. But if it is, the sooner it's treated, the better your chance for full recovery. Keep away from quacks, fake remedies and home remedies. Only surgery or radiation can cure you.

Second, what did my reading and interviews teach me? As of April 1, 1961, there were over 1 1/2 million people in the United States cured of cancer—men, women, children.

That's another thing I learned. Cancer can strike at any age. It often hits hardest at the young and defenseless. More children die of cancer than of any other disease; in half the cases they die of a cancer called leukemia.

The third thing I learned was that this most dreaded type of cancer is, from a research point of view, the most hopeful. A number of scientists believe that the big breakthrough in cancer control may come in leukemia. Some believe that this cancer is virus-caused. Viruses have been used to produce leukemia in mice, and also to make mice immune to leukemia.

Will we ever be able to vaccinate our children against leukemia, as we now do against polio?

An increasing number of scientists now believe that it will eventually be possible to produce vaccines to mobilize the body's defenses against cancer. When? Maybe in 1 year, in 10 years, in 25. Nobody knows the date. But everybody knows that money for research can help advance the date.

Owner Not Happy With Substitutes

James Scofield, of the Gregory Trailer Court near Lockbourne Air Force Base, has told local sheriff's deputies he does not appreciate the switch on two tires and rims of his car.

He said two original tires and rims were removed from his auto while it was parked at the Air Base and Lockbourne Eastern Roads. Two smaller variety tires and rims were substituted.

The owner said the two original rims were yellow. One replacement was red and the other creme, he added. Deputy William Pontious investigated.

Easter Egg Hatches Into 4-Legged Chicken

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Johnny Caldwell, 11, of suburban Union Park, received an Easter chick and thought someone was playing an April Fool's joke on him.

C. R. Douglas of Gainesville gave Johnny 23 eggs as a present Saturday. By the time Johnny got home with the eggs, one had hatched into a four-legged chicken.

Johnny's mother reported the chicken is doing fine and walks on all four legs.

Former Comrades Differ On 'Hero' Tag for John Birch

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Different views were voiced today on the death of John Birch, for whom the right-wing John Birch Society was named.

Birch, then an Army captain, was killed Aug. 25, 1945 while on an OSS intelligence mission in central China.

In Billings, Mont., a radio-TV executive, Joseph Sample, who served in the same OSS outfit as Birch, said in an interview: "There was no real object lesson in Birch's death and certainly no glory."

In Los Angeles, stockbroker William P. Weiss Jr.—onetime OSS officer who made up the mission on which Birch was killed—said: "Certainly John was just as much a hero as any other American soldier who died for his country."

In Pasadena, a Los Angeles suburb, manufacturer Gustav J. Krause—another wartime comrade of Birch—said: "He brought about his own death. He didn't die the hero he was supposed to have died."

The John Birch Society, under fire from some national magazines, and newspapers and some congressmen, has been accused of using Fascist tactics in its self-appointed task of fighting communism.

Birch, a missionary's son who spoke fluent Chinese, was shot by the leader of a group of Communist Chinese.

Sample, president of KOOK and KOOK-TV in Billings, said Birch's patrol ran into "a force of Chinese Reds. The Chinese were understandably disturbed by what seemed to them an unwarranted intrusion of their area and demanded an explanation."

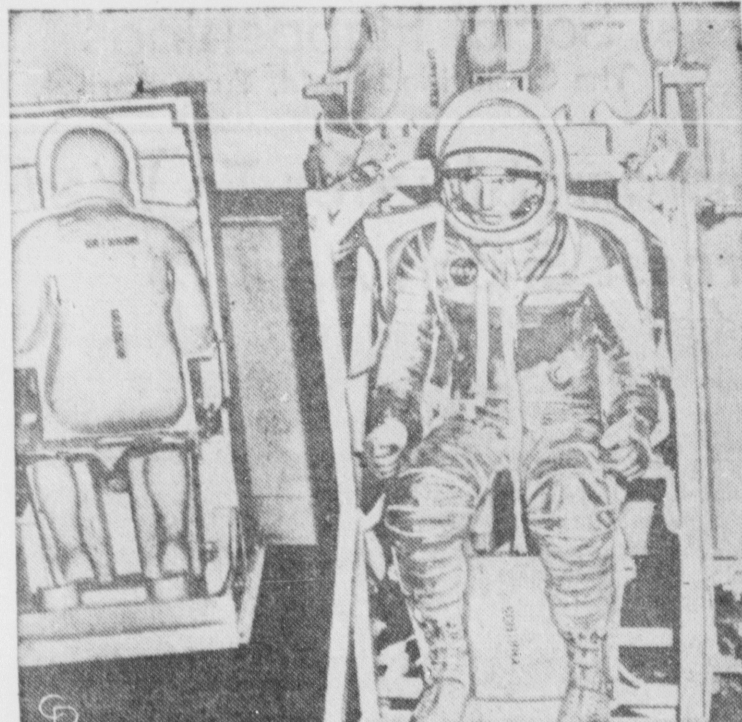

"Capt. Birch chose to bluff his way out of a difficult situation. Harsh words led to insults and insults to arrogance."

Weiss, who lives in suburban Alhambra, said: "He (Birch) was risking his life over and above the normal hazards required of our services during the war on a volunteer basis. Unfortunately, he wasn't as skilled as he should have been. But he certainly is just as much a hero, as he died for his country in trying conditions."

Said Krause: "The Chinese Communists would fire at the drop of a hat. Because of Birch's background and his long life in China he threw his weight around. He was the type of fellow who was not a military man but was recruited because of his language ability."

"There were many men who gave their lives — thousands of Americans who were much greater heroes. But Birch operated on the fact that he knew the Chinese language and had lived in China."

IN AMERICA'S BIGGEST, TOUGHEST 1961 ECONOMY CONTEST...

Which man drove Rambler?

In the most realistic test of all-around gasoline economy ever staged—the NASCAR sanctioned 1961 Pure Oil Economy Trials at Daytona—Rambler won three trophies, held by driver Les Viland in the photo above.

No other make won more than one award... most won none.

Unlike other runs that put a premium on feather-footed driving, the Pure Oil Economy Trials closely parallel your own everyday driving experience.

Every U.S.-built production car is eligible. None are arbitrarily barred, as in some runs. In 1961, 145 cars representing all 5 U.S. makers competed.

Rambler American Custom with overdrive beat them all to win the cherished Overall Winner Trophy and captured the Class 6 trophy in competition with Falcon, Corvair, Lark and Tempest 4. In fact, it took the first 6 places and 8 of the first 10.

And Ambassador V-8 by Rambler won its Class, swept the first 8 places and 9 of the first 10 spots.

With speeds up to 65, and averaging more than 40 M.P.H., the winning Rambler American made 14 complete stops, shifted through the gears 15 times while circling the 3.7 mile course, and still averaged 26.86 miles per gallon!

This is the second straight year Rambler won the Pure Oil Economy Trials.

Want more proof of Rambler value? Then see your Rambler dealer. You'll find top gas economy is just part of your savings. Rambler costs less to buy, is voted most trouble-free by owners, has top resale value.

Rambler dealers sell twice as many compact cars per dealer as most other dealer groups. So, you get a better deal... on the best of the compacts. Rambler—world standard of compact car excellence.

27 Million Chinese Women Hold Jobs

HONG KONG (AP) Women's place in Communist China is definitely not in the home.

The Chinese Communists announced recently that 27 million housewives on the Chinese mainland are working outside their homes "under the constructive direction of socialism."

A Chinese woman's first virtue, almost without exception for thousands of years in China, has been "to obey her father before marriage, her husband after marriage and her sons if her husband should die before she does."

But through repeated social legislation since 1950, the Communists have been turning women into "builders of Socialism and equals of men."

In Peiping, women are becoming taxi drivers, bus conductors, policemen, railway administrators, postwomen and even barbers. Women workers, according to the new legislation, cannot now be discharged because of marriage, pregnancy or childbirth.

Wu Chuan - Heng, member of the secretariat of the All-China Women's Federation, said "As Communists, we should encourage women to free themselves from household drudgery so as to become completely emancipated."

But the true purpose of all this, according to Western observers, is to attract more women into assuming positions formerly held by men so that the latter can be transferred to heavier work.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

Bowled Over!

DEAR ABBY: Once a year my husband drives 75 miles to bowl. He wears his bowling clothes, but takes a change of good clothes with him. He claims he has to stay all night because he is too tired to drive home. (So what does he need his good clothes for?) He says the other men on the team want to stay all night and he would feel funny driving them home. My argument is this: It is MY husband's station wagon, and if he wanted to drive home after bowling he could do it.

The other wives are blaming my husband because they don't like this staying overnight business any more than I do, and their husbands say they have to stay overnight because it's my husband's car. I would like your opinion.

BOWLER'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: You are making quite a fuss over an outing that takes place only once a year. Driving 75 miles after a strenuous bowling tournament is neither fun nor wise. You wives should let the boys stay overnight with your blessings. And don't worry about the "good clothes." When they win they like to get dressed up and "celebrate." And when they lose they need to get dressed up to console each other.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married nine years. We have two children and one on the way. He says after 10 years a man should be entitled to trade in his wife "for a new model." Just like they trade in their automobiles. What do you think?

OLD MODEL

DEAR OLD: Just because a model is "new" doesn't mean it is better. Ask your husband if he ever priced a 1909 Rolls-Royce.

DEAR ABBY: I agree with you that "paunchy" men should wear elastic briefs to hold their stomachs in. I happened to be acquainted with the woman who took care of John Phillips Sousa's dressing room years ago. (He was the leader of the band.) She said he always wore a corset.

Roberts Shows New Steam on Phillies Mound

Rapid Robin Bids For Former Role as Starting Pitcher

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
ROBIN ROBERTS, puffed ear and all, has taken another big stride toward the Philadelphia Phillies' opening day assignment that used to be his by habit.

The veteran pitcher, 34, who has had only one winning season in the last four after ranking for years as the National League's top right-hander, pushed his string of scoreless exhibition innings to 23 1-3 Monday. Then a drive off his right ear sent him to the showers sooner than Manager Gene Mauch had intended.

Roberts pitched 6 1-3 scoreless innings in the Phils' 3-2, 16 inning victory over the New York Yankees—then wobbled off the field at St. Petersburg, Fla., when a one-hop smash off the bat of the Yankees' Clete Boyer struck him on the ear.

The 13-year Phils' vet is under going treatment at a Clearwater, Fla., hospital to guard against a "cauliflower ear" but the injury isn't considered serious and he is expected to go as scheduled against the Pirates in an exhibition at Wichita on Friday.

Barring further complications, that'll tune the 6-2, 200-pound Roberts for the Phils' opener at Los Angeles a week from tonight at the Coliseum.

Back-to-back doubles by Tony Taylor and Johnny Callison broke up the game against the Yankees in the feature of a Monday exhibition program that also saw Roberts' former teammate, Curt Simmons, pitch St. Louis to a 4-3 victory over Chicago's White Sox; Pittsburgh whip Cincinnati 5-2; the new Los Angeles Angels crush San Francisco 12-8; Washington edge Baltimore 2-1 in 11 innings; Minnesota wallop Detroit 11-4 and Cleveland outlast Boston 10-9.

Simmons, who helped Roberts and Jim Konstanty pitch the Phils' Whiz Kids to their startling NL pennant in 1950, allowed but two runs and six hits in eight innings for the Cardinals. St. Louis scored all its runs in the sixth, three on Joe Cunningham's bases-loaded triple.

Bob Friend, vying with Vern Law for Pittsburgh's opening day assignment, allowed but three hits in seven innings against the Reds in a second successive strong performance.

The Angels, who probably will play many such free-wheeling games with their pitching shortage, used homers by Del Rice, Steve Bilko and Faye Thronberry to whip Juan Marichal and the Giants. Marichal, Giants' rookie ace last year, was blasted for seven runs and 11 hits in five innings. Felipe Alou homered twice for San Francisco.

Catcher Frank Zupo's bad throw on Marty Keough's bunt enabled Jim Mahoney to score from second with the 13th inning run that beat the Orioles. Rookie Joe McClain, looming bigger every day in the Senators' plans, worked nine innings and allowed one run and several hits.

The ex-Senators—the Minnesota Twins—rode their home run power over Detroit, accounting for 10 of their 11 runs on two circuit shots by Harmon Killebrew and one apiece by Don Mincher, Dan Dobbek and Elmer Valo. Chuck Stobbs kept the Tigers under control with a yield of just three hits in seven innings.

Boston's injury list, already including outfielders Jackie Jensen and Carl Yastrzemski, added All-Star third baseman Frank Malzone, who sprained an ankle sliding into second base. He'll probably be sidelined a few days.

Ralph Ankrom Hits 612 Pin Series

Ralph Ankrom of Ankrom Lumber scattered the pins for top scores in Prairie Dogs bowling last night at Prairie Lanes.

Ankrom found the range for a 213 single and then went on for a 612 series. Carl Radcliff was close to the top in singles with a 212.

The best team scores went to Circleville Metal on a 938 single and 2,773 total.

County Track Meet Scheduled May 6 at Local Fairgrounds

Plans are in the completion stage for the annual Pickaway County School track meet May 6 at the Fairgrounds.

The day of activity on the cinder paths will start at 9 a. m. with the Junior High meet which will run until about noon. At 1 p. m. Senior High competition, girls included, will begin.

Officials for both sessions have been lined up. For the senior meet they are: George McDowell, publicity; Lawrence Fullen, clerk of course; Steve Brudzinski, starter; Benis Lutz, public address system; Bob Seward, scorer; Judd Lanman, head timer; Charles Baxter, pole vault; Richard Everman, broad jump (boys); Robert Elsea, shotput; Paul Reiss, discus; Lawrence Smith, baseball throw; Ned Reichelderfer, high jump; Mr. Miller, broad jump (girls).

Additional teachers from the county school system will be on hand to help with the Junior High meet.

Masters Seen Test of Power

Augusta Course Said To Have Lost Tricks

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—As golf's brightest stars tuned up today for the silver jubilee Masters Tournament, the meet's very first champion said the storied Augusta National course now is a test of power rather than finesse.

Horton Smith, the aging, meticulous putter who won the inaugural show in 1934 and again triumphed in 1936, readied for Thursday's start of his 25th consecutive Masters. He sadly commented that the Augusta National "just isn't treacherous now."

"It still is a tremendous golf course," said Smith of the par 36-72 layout cradled in some 6,000 yards of horticultural splendor. "But within the past five years somehow it has called for more power than trickery."

Billy Casper, former U.S. Open champion and a ranking Masters' contender this year, also thinks the once-treacherous speed of Augusta greens is gone o some degree.

"They are so well-maintained now, they probably never will be as fast as they once were," said Casper, whose 3-under-par 67 practice round Monday indicated he'll be pressing to improve his fourth-place Masters' finish last year with 287.

Two other players also seeking their first Masters' title, Chick Harbert and Dick Chapman, fired 69s as most of the big guns in the expected field of more than 90 hand-picked entries tested the wind-swept course under leaden skies.

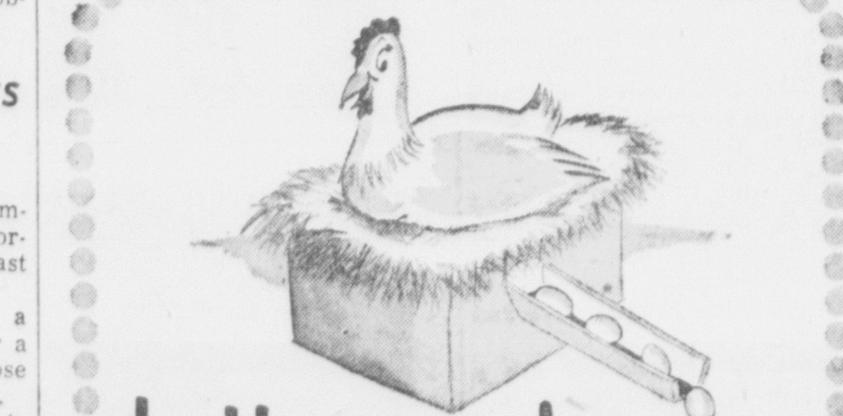

Defending champion Arnold Palmer, aiming for an unprecedented second successive Masters' title and his third in four years, came in with "a 71 or something like that."

Ken Venturi, who finished a stroke behind Palmer's winning 282 last year, also shot a 71, while 73s were carded by Den Hogan, two-time Masters winner and holder of the meet record of 274 (1953); power-hitting Mike Souchak; Jay Hebert, and Walter Burkemo.

Benedictine Basketball Coach Seeks Security

CLEVELAND (AP)—Marlo Termini, 35-year-old graduate of the University of Dayton, has resigned as head basketball coach at Cleveland Benedictine High School.

He had joined the Bengal staff last fall after serving in the same capacity for seven years at Cleveland Holy Name. Termini says he wants to get a job with a public school because "it would offer more security."

GOING, GOING, ALMOST GONE—Connie Mack stadium in Philadelphia, known over many years as Shibe Park, has been sold and its new owners plan to tear it down for other building purposes. The Phillies still use the park but are building a new one. The ball park, built by the Athletics, was opened in 1909, and at one time housed both clubs.

Chicago's 9 Coaches Slated To Leave Strategy to IBM

CHICAGO (AP) — Sometime next August the Chicago Cubs will be playing the Milwaukee Braves and a member of the Cub college of coaches will have the task of making out a batting order to face the great Warren Spahn.

"Who will it be in left field," wonders the Cub coach, "Richie Ashburn or Billy Williams?"

He presses a button and presto, out pops a card stating, "You'd better use this guy instead of so-and-so."

The Cubs, as everybody in the sports world should know by now, do not have a manager. They have nine coaches and an IBM machine. There have been jokes about rotating the coaches with most of them getting a crack at running the team.

But there's nothing funny about the use of the IBM machine which should result into one of the deepest penetrations into the vast valley of baseball statistics.

Every time a Cub goes to bat, the result will be logged. For example, say the Cubs are playing the Braves, Spahn is pitching and Ashburn is the batter.

The master sheet is made out with the data, where the game is played, whether it is at night or day and so on.

On a three-and-two count, Ashburn walks his first time at bat. The walk is recorded in one column and another column shows he has reached base. The next time up, Ashburn hits the first pitch for a double, sending home a runner from second base.

In the various columns, Ashburn is credited with a hit, a two-base hit, two total bases, having reached base, an opportunity to drive in a run, a run-batted-in and a line drive.

Line drives, pop flies and ground balls all have their respective columns. The third time Ashburn grounds out and the fourth time up he grounds into a double play.

All this not only gives a coach a complete line on what Ashburn does against Spahn, but it also compiles what Ashburn does against left-handers in games at home and in games played during the day.

It's a monumental task since bats are kept on every Cub who bats in a game and against the various pitchers used.

But under this system, there should no longer be guesswork involved, especially in sending in a pinch batter.

Ohio Vacationists Offered Vast Array of Home Sports

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's stay-at-home vacationists have a big year of sports on tap.

Starting today with national AAU wrestling at Toledo, and running right up to Jan. 1 when Ohio State may keep a Rose Bowl date, an all-embracing sports program awaits the fans.

No matter when you take your vacation, something interesting will be happening inside the Buckeye borders.

Along with the regularly-scheduled sports fixtures—and some big ones are on the 1961 slate—Ohio offers such things as deep sea fishing in Lake Erie, musky fishing in the eastern sector and trout fishing in Mad River; rabbit, pheasant and quail hunting everywhere; hundreds of golf courses just waiting to be played; major league baseball; all-star football and basketball games; trapshooting, rifle and pistol championship events; the National Soap Box Derby, track-field meets at all levels, and national league football.

Take a look at this lineup, pick the things you want to see or take part in, and map your vacation accordingly:

April
4-8, National AAU wrestling championships at Toledo; 11, Cincinnati Reds open at home against Chicago; 14-15, the 30th annual Mansfield high school relays; 14-16, Mid-American trapshoot championships at Middletown; 18, Cleveland Indians open at home against Detroit; 22, Ohio State University

May
8, Ohio Intercollegiate golf championship at Ohio State; 19-20, Mid-American Conference track, tennis and golf championships at Bowling Green; 19-20, Ohio Conference track-field championships at Delaware; 26-27, Ohio high school track-field, golf, tennis and baseball championships at Ohio State.

June
8-9, Ohio Seniors (55 and over) golf championships at Dayton's Miami Valley Club; 8-11, Ohio trapshoot championships at Middletown; 17, North-South all star high school basketball game at Cuyahoga Falls; 19-24, Mid-American junior match play golf tournament at Mansfield's Possum Run Club; 20-21, Pre-senior (40-55 years) state golf championship at Mansfield Westbrook; 22-25, the 58th Western Open golf championship at Columbus Scioto; 27-28, state junior golf championship at Findlay Country Club.

July
10-16, Ohio Amateur golf championship at Toledo Inverness; 10-14, Ohio Women's golf championship at Cincinnati Camargo; 28-Aug. 27, national rifle-pistol championships at Camp Perry.

August
7-11, Ohio Public Links golf championship at The Elms, Massillon; 12, North-South high school football game at Canton; 18-26, Grand American trapshoot championships at Vandalia; 21-27, American Golf Classic at Akron Firestone.

September
21, Little Brown Jug pace for three-year-olds at Delaware; 30, Ohio State opens football season against Texas Christian.

After that it's all football—high school, collegiate and the Cleveland Browns—and the start of basketball before the new year.

Still to be sandwiched in the regular slate are the Ohio Open golf championship, probably at Akron Firestone in September; the state C. of C. junior golf meet, time and place undetermined, and the Soap Box Derby at Akron in August.

Views on TV-Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Leonard Stadd, who writes the NBC daytime serial, "From These Roots," fumes every time he reads or hears of an evening dramatic show on television referred to as "soap opera."

"The nighttime drama is close to the stage play and related to the short story in its use of a tight, closely knit format."

Furthermore, he insisted, today's daytime serials are far, far away from the old radio soap operas, although few casual viewers realize it.

"The radio serials existed in a world of their own," he theorized. "They suspended time and reality. They would have a wedding ceremony, for instance, going on for a solid month of programs. Today's viewers are a good deal more sophisticated, and we would never dare go for more than two days at the outside for one event, and we usually try to put it into one episode."

Stadd said that by using this "novel technique," the serial unfolds at a rate that is equivalent of a chapter a day.

As the sole writer of the serial Stadd is a one-man word factory. He turns out five half-hour scripts a week. Each script runs around 6,000 words, which means that Stadd's output every two weeks or so involves enough writing for a decent-sized book.

"I actually work from a three-month projection of the story lines," he said. "I write out six or seven pages of outline. Then from that I make an outline for each two-week period—one page for each day's script."

"All I have to do after that is keep three weeks ahead of schedule on scripts—and make sure I've juggled the scenes so that I've used our regular players enough times, and haven't used occasional performers on days they have other commitments — such as matinee days for those acting in Broadway plays."

Mother Saves Tot From Fall in Well

HAMILTON, N.Y. (AP) — The mother took off her coat, acting calmly but quickly. She sent her son David, 6, running for help. Then she climbed 24 feet down a well to save her daughter, Barbara, 4, from drowning.

Mrs. Arthur Linsley plucked Barbara from the water. Then she braced her back and feet against the rough walls of the dark, three-foot-diameter well and waited.

David did his part. He ran a half mile to the nearest house. Firemen arrived in 15 to 20 minutes, Mrs. Linsley estimated.

"I was getting a little shaky," she related Sunday after firemen pulled her and Barbara to the surface with ropes.

Experience Is Counted Heavy in Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) —Unless history is wrong, an inexperienced golfer hasn't much chance of winning the Masters Tournament. The only player who ever succeeded on his first attempt was Horton Smith, when he won the first Masters in 1934.

The massive and often deceptive 6,980-yard Augusta National course takes too much knowing for anyone to master it the first time out. Besides sheer power and sharp hitting, it calls for expertly placed drives, keen judgment on approaches and excellent putting.

But outside of defender Arnold Palmer, it's hard to see any of the past winners as likely contenders when the 25th Masters starts Thursday — and they're the men who should know the course best. Going back a dozen years, only seven other winners are listed—Art Wall Jr., Doug Ford, Jack Burke, Cary Middlecoff, Sam Snead, Ben Hogan and Jimmy Demaret.

Its Election Day In Texas, Several Big U.S. Cities

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Texas vote today to select a Senate replacement for Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Republicans get the first results on their campaign to cut into Democratic strength in the big cities as St. Louis elects a mayor.

Other elections across the country feature mayor's races in Los Angeles and Aurora, Ill., and voting for state officials in Wisconsin.

On Monday, Democrats apparently captured seven of nine races for statewide offices in Michigan. The outcome of the other two races still was in doubt.

Voters approved a proposal calling for holding of a convention to revise Michigan's 53-year-old constitution, but a plan to allow the state to use $5 million of its credit for new industrial or municipal projects apparently was defeated.

Most interest today centers on Texas where the ballot is cluttered with 71 names. No candidate is expected to receive the required 51 per cent vote in the special election and a runoff is scheduled June 3 between the top two candidates.

Council of Churches Opens Food Conference

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Council of Churches conference on food and peace programs opened this morning at the Ohio State Fairgrounds here.

Purpose of the conference is to discuss how the Food for Peace program, International Cooperation Administration and the Peace Corps are interrelated in the use of food for world peace. Churches and other groups have been asked to suggest how the programs ought to be shaped.

Eight challengers are on the ballot, but only two are considered threats. They are Samuel W. Yorty, former Democratic congressman, and City Councilman Patrick D. McGee.

In another mayor's race, Paul Egan—probably the only mayor who ever appointed a parrot as police chief—seeks a third four-year term as mayor of Aurora, Ill.

Egan trailed his opponent, Jay L. Hunter, 70, realtor and retired school principal, by about a 4 to 1 margin in the primary.

Win or lose, the city of 60,000 isn't likely to forget Egan, who left the unemployment assistance rolls in 1953 to become mayor.

Throughout his eight years in office, Egan feuded with his police department. He fired more than a dozen police chiefs, some of them twice.

Wisconsin elects a Supreme Court justice, a superintendent of public instruction and decides a half dozen constitutional amendment proposals in a non-partisan election.

Election officials expect about one-third of Wisconsin's 2.5 million registered voters to take part in the election.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—The fighting in Laos gets the headlines in the Kennedy administration's effort to end the red push in Southeast Asia. But the much less noticed trouble near door in South Viet Nam is deep cause for concern.

There Communist guerrillas are rolling up assassinations in their terrorization of the countryside to undermine the American-backed government which is far from completely solid.

Of the two — Laos and South Viet Nam — the latter is more important in the American government's hope of stopping the Red rush. Laos has 2 million people, South Viet Nam has 10 million.

If South Viet Nam goes, Laos should be a cinch for the Communists, peace or no peace.

Just five months ago, anti-Communist army officers revolted in South Viet Nam. They said they were fed up with the restrictions imposed on the people by the government of Ngo Dinh Diem in his fight against the Communist guerrillas.

Diem was thrown out but got back within 24 hours with the help of army forces loyal to him. Among other things, the revolutionists complained he had set up a family dictatorship.

The basic cause for the resentment at the time was Diem's inability to cope with the guerrillas who terrorized peasants, killed local militia and officials. The population was caught between Communist terror and government reprisals.

Diem promised reforms but the Red guerrillas keep infiltrating.

Two Men Get Full K of P Membership

Philos Lodge No. 64, Knights of Pythias, last night conferred Knight rank on Edgar Haynes and Carl Seymour.

The Knight rank now gives the two men full status as K of P members.

The local lodge also gained another member with the transfer of Ronald Sowers from the Stoughtonville K of P.

Lunch followed last night's initiation. In charge were Ernest Young, chairman, Guy Culp and Charles Winner.

Russians Hinted Spying on A-Sub

LONDON (AP)—Have the Soviets set up a ship-to-shore signal system in Scotland to spy on the U. S. Polaris-firing atomic submarine fleet?

British and American naval authorities met the question today with silence.

Tight security was clamped on the subject following published reports that the Soviet trawler fleets are spying on the new Holy Loch base, the American tender Proteus and the nuclear submarine Patrick Henry, which slipped out Saturday on a battle-ready patrol.

At the start of the Indochina war Larry Allen, an AP reporter, said: "In hundreds of thousands of mud-caked, straw-thatched villages of Indochina there is little interest in either the war or demands for independence."

"The people reflect apathy. They don't seem to care whether a Red flag waves over (them) or the banners of democracy."

Eight years later, when half of Indochina was lost to communism Secretary of State John Foster Dulles noted that the French fight against communism still didn't have broad backing.

He tried to draw a lesson from it, and he said: "Resistance to communism needs popular support and this in turn means that the people should feel they are defending their own national institutions."

But the same story is being told now in Laos where the Kennedy administration is trying to stop the drive of northern Laotian Communists who—with the help of Russia and forces from North Viet Nam—are pushing south.

There, too, Associated Press newsmen have reported the same word—"apathy"—which Allen noted in the early days of the Indochina fighting, plus this: That a majority of the Laotians, instead of siding with the Communists or the American-backed government there, just want to be neutral.

4 Buildings in Oak Hill Are Levelled by Flames

JACKSON, Ohio (AP)—Fire in nearby Oak Hill Monday leveled four frame buildings. Unofficial estimates of loss ranged from $30,000 to $50,000. No one was injured.

Oak Hill Fire Chief Harvey Evans said he has no theory on how the fire started.

The office and storeroom buildings of Oak Hill Builders Supply, in whose lumber yard the fire started, the Yates Shoe Store, which had opened up a week before Easter and the Redmen Lodge meeting hall all burned to the ground.
